Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely a manuscript fragment. The text is written in a cursive, Gothic-style script. The fragment is torn and irregularly shaped, with the text following the contours of the paper. The ink is dark, and the parchment is aged and discolored. The text is arranged in several lines, with some lines being more complete than others. The fragment appears to be a part of a larger document, as evidenced by the torn edges and the continuation of the script.

Handwritten text at the bottom of the fragment, possibly a signature or a date. The script is similar to the main body of text, but the ink is lighter and the handwriting is more fluid. The text is written in a single line, with some characters that are difficult to decipher due to the cursive style.
