

Main body of handwritten text, appearing as bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is dense and covers most of the page area.

