

Ad Romanos... et ad alios... [The main body of the document contains dense Latin text, likely a legal or administrative record, with numerous references to laws, decrees, and specific individuals. The text is written in a cursive hand and is partially obscured by a large, irregular tear at the bottom of the page.]

Pro Jo. Antonius... [A shorter section of Latin text at the bottom of the page, possibly a separate entry or a concluding note, mentioning names like Antonius and dates.]
