

Main body of handwritten text in a historical script, likely Latin or German, covering most of the page. The text is dense and appears to be a formal document or record.

2 (156)

Bottom section of handwritten text, possibly a signature or a concluding statement, located below the main body of text.

