

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Latin or German, covering the majority of the page. The text is dense and appears to be a formal document or legal record.

Mariae 2 (144)

Handwritten text at the bottom of the page, possibly a continuation or a separate entry, including a small diagram or signature.

