

This page contains a single column of dense Latin text, likely a continuation of the previous page's content. The text discusses the life and reign of King Edward III of England, mentioning his battles against France and Scotland, and the construction of a bridge at Berwick-upon-Tweed. The script is in a Gothic hand, with some headings in red ink. A large decorated initial 'P' is located at the bottom left, and a smaller one at the top right.
