

Akbari, Suhailah

Suhailah Akbari, born in September 1990 in Takhar Afghanistan, has been a PhD candidate at the University of Passau, school of law in Germany under the Hamida Barmaki Scholarship Programme of the Max Planck Foundation for International Peace and Rule of Law since 2015. She obtained her bachelor degree in law as top of her class from Kabul University, Faculty of Law, in 2012. After her graduation, in 2012, she became a law lecturer for the Public University of Takhar, Faculty of Law. In 2013, she was granted a Fulbright scholarship to pursue her master's degree at the University of Washington, which she successfully completed in 2014. Since 2016, Mrs. Akbari is based full-time in Passau where she is conducting her research under the supervision of Professor Christoph Herrmann, chair for European and International Law at Passau University. The topic of her doctoral dissertation is “The Legal Impact of WTO Membership on Afghanistan’s Regional Trade Agreements from a Transit Trade Perspective”. In addition to her professional and academic achievements, Mrs. Akbari has vast professional experience in the areas of program management, leadership, gender, and legal capacity building with local and international NGOs, and has received certificates in the mentioned areas from national and international institutions.

587 / Biographies of Authors (English)